

Diversity at the University of Washington Psychology Internship Program

Our psychology internship program is committed to encouraging cultural competency and promoting diversity advancement and training

Promoting Diversity Advancement

- The internship values diversity in geography, age, socioeconomic background, sexual orientation, gender, race, ethnicity, and disability
- Applicant commitment to diversity in research and clinical work is considered positively in application

Promoting Diversity Training

- Supervision and training with diverse communities
- Clinical rotations with diverse populations
- Supervisors with experience in diverse communities
- Diversity issues integrated into training and didactics
- Case consultation on diversity issues
- Invited lectures specifically addressing issues of diversity in assessment, empirically supported treatments, and professional issues
- Opportunities to be involved with the Diversity Advancement Committee (DAC)

Diversity Advancement Committee

- Welcomes all residents
- Promotes education on issues of diversity
- Provides an opportunity for residents to become actively involved in encouraging commitment to diversity

For additional information, please contact

Ty Lostutter, Ph.D.
Diversity Committee
Co-Chair
tylost@uw.edu

Tiara Dillworth, Ph.D.
Diversity Committee
Co-Chair
tiara@uw.edu

